Part III Statement of Program Service Accomplishments

Form 990 is available for public inspection and, for some people, serves as the primary or sole source of information about a particular organization. How the public perceives an organization in such cases may be determined by the information presented on its return. Therefore, please make sure the return is complete and accurate and fully describes, in Part III, the organization's programs and accomplishments.

What is the organization's primary exempt purpose? ▶ See Statement 3 All organizations must describe their exempt purpose achievements in a clear and concise manner. State the number of clients served, publications issued, etc. Discuss achievements that are not measurable. (Section 501(c)(3) and (4) organizations and 4947(a)(1) nonexempt charitable trusts must also enter the amount of grants and allocations to others.)	Program Service Expenses (Required for 501(c)(3) and (4) organizations and 4947(a)(1) trusts, but optional for others)

The Lyme Disease Association in 2005

For a preview of new technological advances in prevention, in 2005 LDA again visited US Army CHPPM (Centers for Health Promotion & Preventive Medicine) at Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland for an update on CHPPM's tick testing program (from military bases) for Lyme and other tick-borne diseases such as RMSF, Ehrlichiosis, Anaplasmosis, Babesiosis, and STARI (Southern Tick-Associated Rash Illness, AKA Master's Disease). CHPPM has completed development of a laptop sized PCR testing device which can be used in the field for testing of ticks, so that soldiers bitten can immediately know if the ticks carry Lyme disease and can receive treatment if necessary. US Army CHPPM has patented the device and is in discussions with a private company to produce it. LDA shared the research on Lyme disease it is supporting and invited CHPPM to exhibit at its conference on tick-borne diseases, which they did.

LDA's 6th annual conference—Lyme & Other Tick-Borne Diseases: Emerging Tick-borne Diseases was held in Philadelphia. Jointly sponsored by LDA and Columbia University, with a target audience of physicians and health care providers, the conference provided 8.75 CME (Continuing Medical Education) credits for physician attendees. Almost 9 hours of material on Lyme and other tick-borne diseases was presented by physicians and researchers to an audience close to 300, more than half of whom were health care providers. One speaker gave the results of a long term treatment study funded through LDA and two of the speakers were international.

LDA and Time For Lyme, its Connecticut affiliate, continue to partner with Columbia University to open an endowed research center for the study of chronic Lyme disease. The Lyme Disease Research Center will use the vast resources of Columbia University in New York to address fundamental clinical and basic science questions that plague adults and children affected by LD. While much is known about early Lyme, very little is known about chronic Lyme disease, despite its rising prevalence and disabling effects. These effects may include arthritis, cognitive loss, peripheral neuropathies, and debilitating fatigue. LD may also cause strokes, blindness, severe psychiatric disorders, and multiple-sclerosis-like illnesses. Children may be home sick for months or years, missing the key academic and social influences so critical to healthy development. $200,000 remains to be raised to open the center.

LDA has had a significant amount of its work published in peer review including in February 2005, Journal of Clinical Microbiology, Elizabeth S. Raveche: Evidence of Borrelia Autoimmunity-Induced Component of Lyme Carditis and Arthritis. LDA continues to work with researchers at UMDNJ—its latest project will have them looking for viruses in ticks which could be a compounding factor along with the borrelia and other co-infections in causing symptoms. LDA also has current studies funded in Pennsylvania on infection of small mammals.

The LDA awarded a grant to principal investigator, Joshua Zimmerberg, MD, National Institutes of Health (NIH) for a joint NIH/NASA (National Aeronautics & Space Administration) project. The project has been examining Borrelia bacteria cultured in a microgravity chamber simulating conditions in space (which are similar to the environment the bacteria has in the human body). This portion will be devoted to Isolation of pathogens of a lone star tick borne Lyme-like illness by human tissue culture and study of the molecular mechanisms of these pathogens. STARI (Southern Tick-Associated Rash Illness) is an illness like Lyme disease carried by a different tick and present primarily in the south, but now spreading as far north as Massachusetts.

LDA continues to work with its chapters, affiliates, and supporters around the country. Time for Lyme has worked cooperatively with the Red Cross and with LDA input to produce a national tick removal kit which is available at cost for sale by the Red Cross and the LDA.

In 2005, LDA awarded a grant to its affiliate, California Lyme Disease Association, Inc. (CALDA) for the revamping of the most widely distributed lay journal for Lyme disease, Lyme Times, and supported the publishing of the special issue, Lyme Times: Children's Issue (summer 2005) by CALDA. This issue contained material for parents and educators on problems of children with Lyme disease. 10,000 were printed and distributed. A volunteer staffed a table at the California Nurse Practitioner (CANP) Convention with LDA children's material and also material from its CA affiliate, CALDA. LDA awarded a grant to CALDA for 500 original reprints of a medical journal article Treatment of Lyme Disease: a medicolegal assessment so that CALDA and ILADS, the International Lyme & Associated Diseases Society, could distribute copies to patients (to help them receive diagnosis, treatment, and reimbursement), and to doctors, respectively. Additionally, LDA & CALDA collaborated on the development of Lyme disease Prevention posters It's Lyme Time Be Tick Aware: one contains a graphic of a person and a dog with information referring to the graphic on all the methods of avoiding getting bitten, e.g., tucking pants into socks and reminding people that pets have problems from tick-borne diseases too. Another poster was developed depicting a person and children Tick removal methods and website of LDA and CALDA are also included for further information—both available for downloading and printing off the LDA site.

At the Oregon Children's Kick off for Lyme, affiliate OLDN (Oregon Lyme Disease Network) & LDA announced a kick off to raise awareness concerning the incidence of children with Lyme disease in Oregon. LDA provided material. Discussed was how to include Lyme Disease Awareness curriculum in school districts where Lyme disease has been noted at higher rates, and where higher rates of neurological problems with cognition, disposition and depression in students has been noted. School districts were to review materials provided by LDA at the conference for use in the districts.

The LDA educated in Delaware at events sponsored by its Delaware Chapter, awarded a grant to its affiliate, the Lyme Association of Greater Kansas City Kansas (LAGKC), to continue to prepare educational packets, including Handbook for Prevention of Lyme & Other Tick-Borne Diseases which includes LDA materials, and tick removal kits, for school nurses in the Greater Kansas City area (Missouri and Kansas).

Through the LDA Rhode Island Chapter, on Prudence Island, an area heavy with Lyme and other vector-borne diseases, the Educational Coordinator for the Narragansett Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve (NBNERR) invited the LDA to present a talk to residents given as part of a Special Educational Presentation provided by NBNERR called Ticks and Tick-Borne Diseases Presentations by Local Experts Part One: An Introduction to Lyme disease and its Management.

LDA spent time in Maryland doing an interview on National Public Radio, on TV, and presenting at a public forum on the eastern shore and visiting with health officials.

In Massachusetts, an LDA volunteer RN presented Lyme and other tick-borne diseases (TBD) program to nurses from the northeast who staff medical facilities, homecare assignments and wellness clinics. LDA was invited by the Massachusetts Joint House-Senate Health Committee to be on a hearing panel in Ayer and later to present expert testimony at another hearing before the Massachusetts Joint Health Committee in the state capital, Boston.

The LDA president was invited to speak by the New Hampshire governor at a press conference in Concord, the state capitol, announcing the first Lyme Disease Awareness Month in New Hampshire. After the talk, LDA met with patients to advise them on the preliminary steps in establishing a Lyme disease group, which they have since done.

In 2005, LDA President, a former board of education president, was interviewed by Federal News Services, Inc. who produces handbooks of health issues for schools. Best Practices in School Health covers health issues that are making headlines across the country and provide the latest innovations that help schools initiate effective programs. Her interview and the LDA's ABC's of Lyme Disease were used to produce the Excerpts from Best Practices in School Health manual, the section on Lyme disease, module 4. Make Time to Look at Lyme and In-service Ideas for Lyme Disease are two of the sections which have been reprinted with permission on the LDA's website.

The LDA arranged and presented an in-service for nurses from the New Jersey Division of Youth & Family Services (DYFS), discussing an overview of the disease and an in-depth presentation of how the disease affects children, especially neurologically. LDA president presented to Rutgers Cooperative Extension Administrators who are in charge of employees who perform outdoor activities and are considered very high risk for Lyme disease because of their close proximity to heavy tick populations. LDA also presented to nurses at the Middlesex Regional Educational Services Commission. Strategies for dealing with children with Lyme disease in the classroom were included as were diagnosing and treating difficulties, ticks that carry and transmit tick-borne diseases, and prevention.

In May, the LDA held a two day event in Manhattan. Literati with Lyme featured several prominent authors who discussed with the media and onstage at NYU their Lyme disease and how it affects their writing. LDA traveled to Corning, Inc. in Corning NY to present on Lyme disease as part of a wellness series. A Rockland County BOCES (Board of Cooperative Education Services) Special Education Division in-service, invited LDA to present The ABCs of Lyme Disease: Its Impact on Children and Families, a 3 hour in-service (in-house program for educators) to about 350 educators from a consortium of Rockland County School districts special education division. Teachers, administrators, nurses, psychologists, therapists, and teaching assistants were the target audience. LDA also took part in a Q&A at a seminar, Conversations on Conservation White-tails in Westchester at Pace University.

The LDA was invited to a Pennsylvania House Majority Policy Committee Lyme Disease Summit in York, to sit on a panel to address Lyme disease problems in Southeastern Pennsylvania and to hear from the public regarding Lyme disease, and to try to develop an action plan to deal with the rising numbers of cases. Issues discussed included misdiagnosis, differential diagnosis, lack of treating physicians, lack of insurance company reimbursements.

In Vermont, LDA spoke to 160 people about Lyme disease in Vermont, the symptoms, how it is acquired, and preventive practices. The Manchester VT Rotary held its second annual Bike Climb for Lyme fundraiser at Mt. Equinox where the LDA president also spoke.

The LDA president was invited to participate in a 3+ hour teleconference in Tallahassee Florida, which included the Florida Department of Health, House & Senate Health Committees, House Insurance Committees, an insurance consumer advocate, several physicians, and officials from other states.

The DEET (tick repellent) Education Program partnered with the LDA and included them in their annual video public service news story. The LDA discussed prevention issues including proper tick checks and removal and making informed choices about the possible use of repellents on skin or clothing or acaracides (sprays which kill ticks on clothing). LDA does not endorse products.

LDA Lobbying Expenses

Transportation expenses for an LDA rep attending a meeting in DC with several congressmen to talk about the problems associated with patients not being able to receive treatments and how that was related to government policies were included. LDA asked for a future meeting to be set up with Health & Human Services to discuss the issues. Also the LDA sent out letters to 15,000 people nationwide to ask them to support the companion Lyme bills for research, prevention, and education in the house and senate. In New York, LDA paid for a postcard mailing to physicians asking for support of legislation that would help in due process reform of the Office of Professional Medical Conduct. There have been Lyme disease issues surrounding that office.
